

From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Wednesday 16 September 2020 15:55
To: foreshore <foreshore@housing.gov.ie>
Subject: Floating Offshore Wind testing at AMETS Site Mayo

To whom it may concern,

I am sending you this email as I wish to object to the planning for the floating Offshore wind test of Annagh Head. There are a number of reasons for this objection such as the negative effects on the community and locals particularly due to noise and disturbance caused by works and transit of materials which will affect the elderly people in the local community and villages. The previous works in relation to the test site were carried out at all hours and were both a nuisance and extremely disturbing to the elderly people in the community as it prevented them from sleeping. There will also be a visual impact to the locality and it will also have a detrimental effect on the character of the local area. This will be out of character in terms of appearance in the area. The environmental impact of these works will have adverse effects on marine and coastal ecology as well as contamination in the sea. This will also have a huge impact on the livelihoods of fisherman in the area.

Yours sincerely,

[REDACTED]