Subject:	Proposed Vat on food supplements
Hi,
As a Nutritional Therapist who uses food supplements to help clients struggling with infertility, I want to register my opinion with regards to the proposal to levy VAT on these products.
I believe it will be counter productive to the overall health of the population as it will effectively penalize those who are proactive in looking after their own health and disuade them from buying products that can really support their health.
It is my belief that higher priced food supplements will cause a net drain on the economy by encouraging people to purchase similar supplements online from unregulated retail outlets abroad with lower prices.
Thank you
