

What's in this Booklet

This booklet gives the rates of payment for the various payments provided by the Department of Social, Community and Family Affairs. It also contains the percentage rates of pay-related social insurance (PRSI) contributions for employees, employers and for self-employed people.

Tugann an leabhrán seo liosta dos na ráta íocaíochtaí éagsúla a chuireann an Roinn Gnóthaí Sóisialacha, Pobail agus Teaghlaigh ar fáil. Chomh maith leis sin taispeánann sé na rátaí árachais sóisialaigh pá-choibhneasa (ÁSPC) a bhaineann le fostaithe, fostóirí agus daoine atá féin-fhostaithe.

Pay-Related Social Insurance (PRSI)

The rates of PRSI from 6 April, 1998 given in the following tables include the Social Insurance Contribution, the Health Contribution (1.25%) and the Employment and Training Levy (1%) but DO NOT include the 0.25% FÁS Apprenticeship Training Levy payable by certain designated employers (see SW 14 for details).

The employee's portion of the social insurance contribution is paid on the reckonable earnings up to a ceiling of £24,200. The employer's portion continues to be payable on the reckonable earnings of each employee up to £29,000.

The 1.25% Health Contribution and the 1% Employment and Training Levy are payable by the employee on ALL reckonable earnings under Classes A1, AX, J1, B1, C1, D1, H1, K1 and S1.

PRSI-Free Allowance for Employees

From 6 April, 1998, the weekly (non-cumulative) PRSI-Free Allowance of £100 applies to the employees social insurance contribution in Classes A, E and H. The allowance for people in Classes B, C, D and S is £20 per week. This allowance does not apply to the Health Contribution and Employment and Training Levy and it does not affect the employer deduction.

Recipients of Widow's/Widower's Pension/One-Parent Family Payment

Men and women receiving a Social Welfare Widow's or Widower's Pension or One-Parent Family Payment are exempt from paying the 2.25% Health Contribution and Employment and Training Levy. Medical Card holders are also exempt from these levies.

Earnings Thresholds for PRSI

In general PRSI deductions are decided by the nature of the employment and the amount of the employees gross reckonable earnings in any week. The following earnings thresholds apply to Class A (employees in industrial, commercial and service-type employment under a contract of service and new entrants to the Public Service) except where otherwise indicated.

- Up to £29.99 (from ALL employments)
PRSI payable at Class J0, regardless of hours worked.
- £30.00 — £207.00 (individual employments)
The exemption from payment of the 2.25% levies (Health Contribution and Employment and Training Levy) applies to employees in ALL classes with earnings of £207 or less and PRSI is payable at Class A0, B0, etc..
- £207.01 — £270.00 (individual employments)
This earnings threshold applies to Classes AX or AW* (*medical card holders, people in receipt of a Social Welfare Widow's or Widower's Pension, One-Parent Family Payment, or Deserted Wife's Benefit/Allowance).

Note: In all other classes when earnings exceed £207 per week PRSI is payable at Classes B1/B2, C1/C2, D1/D2, H1/H2, J1/J2, K1/M or S1/S2.

- In excess of £270.00 (individual employments)
Employees in Class A who earn £270.01 or more in any week pay PRSI at Class A1 or A2* (*medical card holders, people in receipt of a Social Welfare Widow's or Widower's Pension, One-Parent Family Payment, or Deserted Wife's Benefit/Allowance).

Contributions for Self-Employed People

Self-employed people, with a total income of £2,500 or more in the tax year, are liable to pay Class S social insurance contributions. These contributions are payable on gross income less allowable superannuation and capital allowances. The arrangements for paying self-employed contributions are:

- those who pay their tax direct to the Collector-General will pay their Social Insurance Contributions, Health Contribution and Employment and Training Levy with their income tax. They will be liable for a Social Insurance Contribution of 5% of income exceeding £1,040 up to a ceiling of £24,200 or £215, whichever is greater, in addition to the Health Contribution and Employment and Training Levy, where applicable;
- those paying PAYE tax will have their contributions deducted from their income by their employers;
- those who have been told by an Inspector of Taxes that they need not make a return of income, are liable to pay a flat rate contribution of £124 a year to the Department of Social, Community and Family Affairs. (These contributions can be paid by instalments.);
- those whose principle means of livelihood comes from share fishing and who have been classified as self-employed may opt to pay an additional contribution for certain benefits under Class P. They will pay a contribution of 5% of income (up to £24,200) or £215 whichever is the greater, in addition to the PRSI being paid under Class S.

Voluntary Contributions

If you cease to be covered by compulsory PRSI, either as an employee or as a self-employed person, and you are under age 66, you may opt to become insured on a voluntary basis, provided you satisfy certain conditions. See information leaflet SW 8 for details. There are three rates of Voluntary Contributions:

High Rate	6.6%	for people who paid PRSI at Classes A, E and H
Low Rate	2.6%	for people who paid PRSI at Classes B, C and D
If your income was less than £4,750 in the 1997/98 tax year, you must pay a minimum Voluntary Contribution as a % of £4,750.
Special Rate		for people previously insured at Class S, there is a flat rate Voluntary Contribution of £215.
