Greetings,

With regard to above subect, I would like to say I think in some circumstances DAFM & its officials are not adhering to the spirit of CAP.

For eg, I rent a small island which has been preserved in my family for generations. In order not to disturb the fragile ego system there, I only visit the island twice a year - to leave a few sheep off & collect again.

I feel the intense scrutiny by DAFM was counter productive & costly - hiring a boat to visit; expenses to officials- .

This also disturbed the wide variety of birds peacefully inheriting the island & caused unnecessary annoyance to me and my family as we try to earn a living...

Regards
