| AIE.23.615 | 07/12/2023 | Other | again I am raising an issue with the EIA Screening of a Forestry licence CNXXX.Information on cumulative impact is missing from the EIA Screening form (4 questions unanswered).Is the project area partially within one of the top eight FPM catchments? the 'Yes' response is incorrect. The project is, however, within a catchment of SAC populations listed in SI296 of 2009.Despite erroneously identifying the catchment as being in the highest priority area for FPM the Inspector has failed to register a response to the question;Has this sensitivity been addressed by Ecology Section and resulting recommendations applied, either through project redesign, conditions to be attached to the afforestation licence (if issued), or refusal?On the basis of these errors alone (I have not even looked at the rest of the file) the EIA Screening Determination is unsound and this licence, unquestionably, would be set back at appeal to the FAC.It is also unclear from the record as to how the identified landscape sensitivities have been offset.I cannot afford the punitive appeal fees imposed by your Department and I contend that I should not have to pay to highlight such blatant errors. In bringing this error to the Department's attention I am doing a public service and should not be penalised for this.Can you please explain how and why an Inspector is permitted to sign off on an incomplete EIA Screening?Can you please confirm that you will withdraw this licence pending a review by an Inspector of a higher grade than the one who conducted this assessment. | Deemed Refusal |
